Lisa - I've just checked in again with our vendor, who advises that there are several large productions in their queue, and our production apparently is more complex than our first production because of the alternative Twitter and Instagram formats they're processing. I've asked them to get a link to us by end of the day. In any event, you will have it as soon as we do. It will include a substantial production of documents aside from the Twitter and Instagram data we already produced.

Best,
Rhett
